FAST TRIP OF THE ALAMEDA

STEERAGE PASSENGER DIES AND IS BURIED AT SEA.

Bristol's Horses Arrived in Good Condition—Jolly Crowd of Passengers on Board—Number for Honolulu.

There was a big crowd on the Oceanic wharf at 7 o'clock this morning when the steamship Alameda came alongside. Professor Bristol's horses were the main drawing card. It was just like a circus coming to town, and the youngsters were out in full force to place their stamp of approbation upon the affair, and, incidentally, to admire open-mouthed, the sleek little ponies and long-eared donkeys.

The Alameda made the run down in 6 days 12 hours, and would have clipped several hours more from the run had not Capt. Oterendorp, finding that he could not make port by run-down, slowed down on the last day out. Even then she arrived off port at midnight, and had to stand off until after sunrise. There was a jolly crowd of passengers on board, and they made the most of the fine weather.

On March 9th Thos. McCauna, a steerage passenger, succumbed to old age and general debility. He was buried at sea the same day, Capt. Oterendorp reading the services. Deceased was 72 years of age.

Among the passengers for this port were T. T. French and wife, who have been absent on their honeymoon. They had intended to go to England, but when they reached Boston Mrs. French's health failed, and they have returned home.

H. A. Williams, of the San Francisco firm of Williams, Brown & Co., a prominent business man and popular club member, is a passenger for Sydney, accompanied by his family.

Avery McCarthy and his wife, well known society people of San Francisco, arrived here on a visit. About four years ago Mrs. McCarthy passed through here on a voyage around the world.

Following is a list of the passengers for this port: James L. Baker, Professor D. M. Bristol, Miss Charlotte L. Collins, R. A. Craig, T. T. French and wife, A. J. Henriques, Mrs. E. G. Hitchcock, Miss H. C. Hitchcock, Miss M. Hitchcock, Miss Holmes, Chas. D. Jacob, Donald R. Jacob, Miss B. Lantier, Avery McCarthy, wife and child, Miss Harriett Newell, W. G. Ogg, Miss S. Ogles, H. C. Owen, Miss Ida Belle Palmer, Mrs. De Richette Quellette, J. H. Sears and wife, Mrs. J. P. Sisson, Miss E. Taylor, C. M. White, H. C. Witt and seventeen steerage.

The Alameda sails at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

TO A HIGHER COURT.

To the Supreme Court of the United States may be taken the great criminal case of California, the cause in which W. H. T. Durrant was convicted of the murder of Blanche Lamont, says the Chronicle of the 5th.

In judicial proceedings resulting from a crime committed within this State the State courts have original and final jurisdiction, save that upon matters involving the interpretation and application of the Constitution of the United States, upon which the decision of the Federal courts may be asked. The McNulty case was taken from this State to the Federal court of last resort on a constitutional question. The attorneys for Durrant promise to present his case to the Supreme Court of the Nation should they fail in their effort to obtain from the State Supreme Court a rehearing of the decision denying a new trial.

MRS DOMINIS AT THE CAIRO

RECEIVING VERY FEW CALLERS AT HER COURT.

The Poetess Laureate of Hawaii—Royalist Hopes Based on Sherman—Believe He Is Opposed to Annexation.

Ex-Queen Liliuokalani is keeping court at the Cairo these days, receiving a few callers now and then, but spending most of her time in the peaceful recreation becoming her ex-royal position, says a late Washington Star. Her attendants are still utterly in the dark as to the length of her stay in Washington, and express themselves as equally ignorant as to her plans and intentions for the future.

A western paper this week published a statement to the effect that the coming of the two commissioners from Hawaii in the hope of securing annexation had had the effect of "smoking out" Mrs. Dominis, and that she had frankly stated that her presence in Washington was for the purpose of blocking the game.

Ta a Star reporter her private secretary stated that there was not one word of truth in the story. He said that so far from making any such statement for publication "the gracious lady" had not even in private conversation with her attendants ever spoken a single word with reference to her hopes or plans.

"It is claimed that Senator Sherman is opposed to the general principle of annexation," suggested the reporter. "He is, indeed," replied Capt. Palmer, "and so, for that matter, is Mr. McKinley himself."

That was all that Capt. Palmer would say on the subject. He declined to say even that much as to what he thought or what the ex-Queen thought of the coming of Messrs. Thurston and Smith from Hawaii. He said that he knew Mr. Thurston not at all, but knew the other gentleman very well.

"Of course you know Mr. Thurston's standing in Washington," he remarked.

"Yes; I always thought it was first rate."

"Um, ah, ye," said the diplomatic captain, very much as though that was not the sort of answer he had expected. That was all he would say.

The Hawaiian royalists base their hopes that the next Secretary of State will oppose annexation on the following extract from Mr. Sherman's published memoirs:

"The events of the future are beyond the vision of mankind, but I hope that our people will be content with internal growth, and avoid the complications of foreign acquisitions. Our family of States is already large enough to create embarrassment in the Senate, and a Republic should not hold dependent provinces or possessions. Every new acquisition will create embarrassments. Canada and Mexico as independent Republics will be more valuable to the United States than if carved into additional States. The Union already embraces discordant elements enough without adding others. If my life is prolonged I will do all I can to add to the strength and prosperity of the United States, but nothing to extend its limits or to add new dangers by acquisition of foreign territory."

Mrs. Dominis was very much gratified by the receipt through the mails of a poem from a woman in Greenbush, Mass. It showed that the ex-Queen is not the only woman on earth who thinks she is just about right, and a very much abused personage. Accompanying the poem was a letter from the writer, who said that she was seventy-two years of age, but still hoped that she would live to see Mrs. Dominis' wrongs righted. When these "wrongs" are righted the Greenbush poetess may stand a good chance of being appointed poetess laureate of Hawaii.

GREECE WILL STAND FIRM

NEGATIVE REPLY TO THE POWERS PROBABLE.

More Army Reserves Called Out—King George Is Determined and May Refuse to Evacuate Crete—Want War.

ATHENS, March 4.—There is no longer any doubt that the reply of Greece to the identical notes of the powers delivered on Monday last insisting on the Greek troops and fleet leaving Crete within six days from that date will be in the negative. The reply of the Greek Government will explain the reasons why Greece cannot recall her forces and why she considers the scheme for autonomy proposed by the powers to be inapplicable to Crete.

After a Cabinet Council had been held the Premier, M. Delyannis, had a long conference with the King. The official gazette tonight publishes a decree calling out the army reserves of 1891, 1890, 1889, and 1888, and this step will be followed by a general mobilization of the Greek forces. It is estimated that Greece will then have 100,000 men under arms. The bulk of the reserves will be drafted forthwith to Thessaly, where the troops are reported to be full of ardor and confidence.

Meetings in favor of war with Turkey and resistance to the powers are of daily occurrence, especially in Thessaly.

Reports are published here that the German officers in the Turkish army have been appointed to command the troops on the Greek frontier.

The ironclads Spezia and Psara will sail at dawn to a secret destination under sealed orders.

This evening a great public meeting was held here to protest against the action of the powers. At its conclusion the crowd marched to the palace, shouting, "War! war! war!" Before the palace several persons addressed the people, and then, in response to their demands, Crown Prince Constantine appeared on the terrace, wearing the uniform of a General. He thanked those present in the name of the King for the loyal and patriotic sentiments expressed and begged them to retire, saying that at the present juncture an attitude of calm best befitted the dignity of the nation. The Prince was loudly cheered.

The new Minister of War, Colonel Metaxas, has enjoined the greatest activity upon the commanders of the Greek forces. The French volunteers, who have reached here, are received with the greatest enthusiasm.

REFUSES TO PAY A CLAIM.

Olney's Demand for Damages Rejected.

PANAMA, March 4.—I am informed by a trustworthy correspondent in Lima, Peru, that the Government of that Republic absolutely refuses to allow the claim of Victor H. McCord, an American citizen, for false arrest and imprisonment. The claim is for $200,000. Secretary Olney in July made a peremptory demand upon Peru for the settlement of the claim.

Mr. McCord was superintendent of the Arequipa and Cuzco Railway in 1885. A revolution was in progress in Peru at the time, and a train on which Mr. McCord had taken passage was captured by rebels. Through the treachery of the engineer, Mr. McCord was pointed out as the most important prisoner. He was sentenced to be shot at once, but was saved by the efforts of a few Peruvians. He was then imprisoned and treated with great hardships and cruelty.

After the release of Mr. McCord he filed his claim for $200,000, the justice of which has been repeatedly recognized by the Washington authorities, Peru being as often requested to liquidate.

TO MAKE INVESTMENTS.

There are several gentlemen of large capital in the city who have come to Honolulu with the express purpose of investigating the coffee business, and of investing extensively if the reports they have heard are verified. The coffee prospects at the present time are very flattering, and there is but little doubt that some heavy deals, interesting foreign capital, will shortly be consummated.

GOOD THING FOR TEACHERS

PETITION FOR MORNING SCHOOL HOURS ONLY.

Commence at Eight and Quit at Noon—School Children Like the Idea, but Their Parents Do Not.

A petition is being circulated among the public school children, asking the Board of Education to change the school hours, so that there will be but a morning session, commencing at 8 a. m. and closing at 12, with no school in the afternoon. Naturally the idea of having a half holiday the year around pleases the children and they are tumbling over each other in their anxiety to append their signatures.

It is difficult to trace the source of the petition, but it is generally believed that it emanated from some of the teachers, who are quite as fond of a half holiday as the youngsters whom they teach and influence. The petition is not regarded as a serious matter by older heads, as it is not considered the proper thing to teach children that they can secure just such school legislation as will please them by petitioning the Board of Education for it.

Some of the mothers, who have had an inkling of what is going on are up in arms. They say that it is enough of a task now to get the children out of bed and ready for school by 9 o'clock. It would be almost impossible to get them up earlier. Out in the suburbs it would mean that the children would have to be routed out at 6 a. m. and then they would not have time to help their mothers with the work, which is quite an item in families where there are no servants.

Another forcible argument against the change of school hours is that the children will become a charge on their parents during the afternoons. It is hard enough now to keep them out of mischief during the hours that intervene between the close of school and bed time, but, the mothers say, the additional three hours will ruin them entirely. In fact it is probable that if the petition ever reaches the Board of Education, it will be accompanied by a party of angry mothers that will frighten the members of the Board.

SUPREME COURT.

The March term of the Supreme Court will open Monday morning. The Japanese test cases of Tatsu and others and Kado Ukiichi and others will be taken up for consideration immediately upon the motion of the Government's counsel to dismiss the petitions for habeas corpus. There are ten cases on the docket.

THE JAPANESE CASE.

Minister Cooper was busily occupied during the greater part of the day preparing the Government's side of the case in the Japanese immigrant trouble. He was assisted by W. R. Castle. The matter will come up before the full bench of the Supreme Court on Monday.

FOREIGN COMMENT.

McKinley's Inaugural Well Received Abroad.

LONDON, March 4.—The financial clauses of President McKinley's message to Congress have been received in business circles here with every expression of satisfaction. The representatives of the Rothschilds' banking-house say they were much pleased with the position taken by the President, adding: "It is excellent, most excellent."

The Governor of the Bank of England, Albert Sandman, said the financial clauses of the message were thoroughly sound and of a clear, honest, conservative tone. He would not express an opinion of the international bimetallic clauses.

Howard Brown, of Brown, Shipley & Co., remarked: "It is quite in line with what I expected. If President McKinley appoints a commission to revise the monetary laws there is no doubt that good will result. The country must be thoroughly sick of the situation."

INVASION OF GYPSIES

THIEVING GANG CHASED FROM PILLAR TO POST.

Will Come to Honolulu in Search of Rest and Money—Chased Out of Different Towns—A Haru Crowd.

By the next steamer from the coast Honolulu is threatened with invasion from a band of gypsies, who have been driven from town to town in California, and are always in trouble because of their thieving propensities. The party includes about twenty people. They wanted to come here on the Australia when she last left San Francisco, but could not provide enough money on the spot, although they promised to get it if Capt. Houdlette would hold the steamer an hour. In speaking of this gang the Chronicle says in a recent issue:

"The hard gang of Portuguese gypsies that tried to go to Honolulu by the steamer Australia were run out of Sausalito yesterday by the officers of that town. They were compelled to pack up and leave in a day. Shortly after noon the gang came over in five wagons and they presented the worst looking sight imaginable. The horses they had were the sorriest plugs possible. The wagons were nearly in pieces and the harness was principally baling rope. The men, women and children were as dirty as they could get. As soon as they reached the San Francisco shore Sergeant Tom Mahoney ordered them to leave the city at once or he would arrest them and give them a bath. The latter part of the threat was effective and the procession was soon moving down Mission street on the way to San Mateo county. The men said they were going to Santa Clara county. The band has been engaged in wholesale robberies in Marin county for some time and behaved in the most beastly manner. The lower counties will undoubtedly have trouble with the vagrants, who, notwithstanding their wretched appearance, proved they had $2500 a few days ago."

Later advices say that the band was met at the San Mateo county line by the sheriff and a posse and driven back by force. They were not permitted to go back to Sausalito or to remain in the city, so went over to Oakland, pitching their camp in the suburbs, where, according to last accounts, they were fast becoming a nuisance and annoyance.

MRS. DOMINIS AT THE CAPITOL.
She Spent an Hour in the Gallery of the Senate.

Mrs. Dominis, formerly Queen Liliuokalani, was at the Capitol today and spent about an hour in the ladies' gallery of the Senate, says a late Washington Star. She was the center of attraction, but the report of her presence had not thoroughly been spread about until after she had left it. Then many people went to the galleries to see her, and the result was that every brunette with a fair amount of obesity was pointed out as being the ex-Queen. Six or eight ladies during the afternoon were indicated by knowing ones as probably being the ex-Queen.
